Dear Miss Weston,

Mr. Wallcut has handed to me the enclosed papers, being R. D. Webb's accounts (I believe) with the Bazaar in former years. He thinks it best they should be in your hands. — I also add, in another parcel, (accompanying this) some papers which belong to the Bazaar. I do not know that they are of any farther value, but I would rather you should destroy them, if they are to be destroyed.

Yours, &c.
